

Marine Safety Management Systems

ISM Code 2010 Amendments

Content

At the 85th session of the IMO Maritime Safety Committee important amendments were made to the International Safety Management (ISM) Code which will come into effect on 1st July 2010 through resolution MSC.273(85).

This module will inform about the revisions in details, how safety management systems will be affected and explain what actions are required by companies to ensure compliance. A practical case study is used to illustrate possible methods for assessing risks and establishing safeguards.

Course Objective

Gaining knowledge of the new amendments to the ISM Code, the interpretation of the requirements and their significance.

Emphasis

- Knowledge and understanding of the ISM Code amendments
- Practical application of basic risk assessment methods and risk control measures
- Planning and completion of renewal verification of SMCs within given time frame

Venue, Date: Byotell Kozyatagi/ Istanbul, 11 May 2010, 09.00 a.m. till 2.00 p.m.
Seminar Language: English
Fees: €150

Certificate:	GL Academy Certificate
Methods:	Presentation, case study
Target groups:	Shipping company personnel involved in safety and safety management systems: Safety managers, DPAs, superintendents, masters, nautical officers and engineers. Personnel in maritime administrations and training institutes.
Requirements:	Knowledge of the ISM Code
Duration:	0.5 day
Category:	Advanced
Further Recommendations:	Internal Auditor ISM/ISO 9001:2008 for Shipping Companies, Harmonisation of Safety (ISM) and Security (ISPS) Management Systems, Designated Person Ashore (DPA) Training Course

Application Form is attached.

We look forward to welcoming you.

More information is available on our website:

www.gl-group.com/glacademy

GL Academy wishes you a nice day.

If you think other colleagues in your company should be informed please kindly forward this e-mail or inform us.

We inform customers and interested persons about important news from GL Academy. If you do not want to be informed via E-mail in the future please contact us:

gl-academy-istanbul@gl-group.com