COLOMBO INTERNATIONAL LOGISTICS CONFERENCE

The Indian Ocean's Emerging Mega Maritime, Logistics and Distribution Centre

1st & 2nd August, 2019 | The Galadari Hotel | Colombo, Sri Lanka

Sri Lanka - A location that Connects:

market & continents

giving speed & access to supply chains

reducing lead time & cost of unit operations of logistics

Access to 2 Billion + people in the fastest growing Asian region

Sri Lanka has very flexible and an investor friendly environment through its Commercial Hub Act opening the country for logistics FDI with least procedures for international investments. As South Asia's population and the middle-income group expands, demand for products manufacturing and consumption is likely to triple or quadruple by 2050, making a huge demand for cost effective logistics services. And Sri Lanka is unmatched to any other geographic location to provide logistics to emerging markets. The debut edition of Colombo International Logistics Conference will bring under the spotlight this unique advantage of Sri Lanka, showcasing it as an investment destination beyond 2020.

COLOMBO INTERNATIONAL LOGISTICS CONFERENCE 2019

First ever Colombo International Logistics Conference
1st & 2nd August 2019, Galadari Hotel, Colombo

Sri Lanka is known as a mega transshipment location in South Asia. In fact, it's the fastest growing one among major ports of the world, with the rank of 11th best connected port in the world of shipping. Situated in the middle of the Indian Ocean, connecting multiple continents and reaching out to billions of people, many have not realized that the island nation sitting next to the major market of India is probably the best geographical position for logistics, distribution and storage of both bulk and containerized cargo. Sri Lanka has very flexible and an investor friendly environment through its commercial hub act opening the country for logistics FDI with least procedures for international investments. In addition, it has three major ocean ports being extensively developed for a variety of purposes and connectivity. Colombo being the main container transshipment port is the only main South Asian port, closest to the East-West shipping route that is well equipped for the 21st century mega container ships.
